JOE CANNON OPENS HIS CAMPAIGN AT DANVILLE, ILL.

Accuses Gompers of Desiring Congress to Aid Him in Boycott Policy.

Says Bryan Makes Attack on the Judiciary.

HISTORY OF THE INJUNCTION

Danville, Ill., Sept. 11.—Speaker Cannon last night opened his campaign for re-election to congress in his home town. Almost his entire address of nearly two hours was devoted to the labor question. He paid his respects to Samuel Gompers, president of the American Federation of Labor, who spoke here on Labor Day and attacked Speaker Cannon, inviting union workmen to vote against him. The speaker plaid said he had never voted in congress for a boycott and for some other things demanded by labor leaders, including the anti-injunction law that would make fish of one and fowl of another.

Cannon was greeted by an audience of 5,000 who cheered for several minutes when he appeared on the stage. He was escorted from his home to the theater by the Cannon Escort club, an organization that has taken an active part in every campaign here for twenty years.

The speech.

Following is almost a full text of the speaker's address which is considered one of the strongest of the campaign, and was received with much applause:

In leading up to a reply to Mr. Gompers, Mr. Cannon said that there were two paramount issues in this campaign. One was the tariff and the other the integrity and independence of the judiciary. After devoting considerable attention to the position of the two leading parties on the tariff question and discussing prosperity, financial depression and the prime place held by the United States in commercial affairs, Mr. Cannon concluded that the depression of last October did not affect the farmers who constitute one-third of the population and that the people in the aggregate were never in so good a condition to withstand a depression and that the country was fast recovering from its effect. He believed that prosperous times equalling those of the last few years had already returned.

Use of Job and Amasa.

Taking up the judiciary Mr. Cannon said that the Democratic platform this year declared that the "rights of justice are the backbone of our liberties, and we yield to none in our purpose to maintain their dignity." He said that Mr. Bryan's platform then renewed the pledge in the platform of 1896 to compel the federal courts to grant jury trials in contempt proceedings. "This attitude of Mr. Bryan," said the speaker, "and his party may be illustrated by the story of Job and Amasa, which we find in the Old Testament. And Job said to Amasa, 'Art thou in health my brother?' And Job took Amasa by the hand with the right hand to kiss him. But Amasa took no heed to the sword that was in Job's hand; so he smote him there with the fifth rib, and shed out his bowels to the ground. So Mr. Bryan would follow the example of Job with the supreme court."

"The federal judiciary is a co-ordinate department of the government, so declared by the constitution. The writ of injunction and the power to punish for contempt is older than our constitution; and the constitution recognizes the independence of the judiciary and especially declares: 'The judicial powers shall extend to all cases in law and equity arising under this constitution.'"

"The difference between the Democratic declaration of 1896 and that of 1908 is only in words; the meaning is the same. In 1896 Mr. Bryan said in his platform just what he meant. This year he seeks softer phraseology and employs the diplomacy of Job, giving the kiss while he wields the sword."

"We might appropriately change the name of the Democratic candidate to William Job Bryan."

History of Injunction.

Mr. Cannon then took up the history of the demand for anti-injunction legislation and pointed out that the demand for a jury trial in contempt proceedings came first after the punishment of Eugene V. Debs, now candidate for president on the Socialist ticket, but in 1894 the leader of the railroad strike. He referred to the calling of federal troops to Chicago by President Cleveland and recited the history of the attempt by various congressmen to pass

METROPOLIS GETS FINE BUILDING FOR NEW BANK

Two Story Stone and Pressed Brick Structure at Fifth and Ferry.

City National at That Place Shows Enterprise.

DESCRIPTION OF ITS HOME

Plans are being drawn in the office of Architect A. L. Lassiter for a bank building for the City National bank of Metropolis. It will cost about $12,000. The plans will be ready for the contractors to bid on next week, but it is not decided when the work will begin. When completed, without a doubt it will be the best bank building within a wide radius of Metropolis.

The building will be two stories high with a first story constructed of stone. The second story will be made of buff pressed brick with stone trimmings. All of the corners will be terra cotta. There will be three entrances, and each entrance will have a portico with columns of polished granite. In every way the construction of the building will be up-to-date. It will have a fire proof vault of the latest construction.

The new bank building will be erected at the intersection of Fifth and Ferry streets, in one of the best blocks in Metropolis. The remaining two banks are on the same street and the same side, if having a corner location, the building can be set off to a good advantage. The bank will be on the side adjoining the corner, while half the building will be used for a store. On the second floor there will be eight well lighted offices, approached by an attractive entrance. The building will be located next to the Methodist church.

The City National is the youngest of Metropolis' banks as it was just organized about one year ago, but it has a corps of directors who are full of vim.

They seem to be better off than they ever were before, and grain and cattle raising sections are prosperous."

CLARKSVILLE IS CENTER OF NIGHT RIDER INTEREST

Clarksville, Tenn., Sept. 11.—After a strenuous day's work, nine jurors were secured in the trial of John Garlender and Walter Hunt, charged with the murder of Vaughn Bonnet, from a list of 116 men drawn. Two are independent and seven association men. The defense has exhausted thirty-two of its forty-eight, and the state four of its twelve challenges. When court opened Judge Tyler again gave the order to search all persons entering the court room for weapons, with the exception of counsel. It is understood that the night rider depredations will be brought out in the trial. Two hundred witnesses have been summoned from all over the dark tobacco district, including Kentucky.

Wright Breaks Record

Washington, Sept. 11.—Orville Wright broke the world's record for time and distance for a heavier-than-air flying machine, which he established yesterday afternoon. In a flight requiring great skill on account of a ten-mile wind, he circled around the drill grounds at Fort Myer 55 times in 65 minutes and 52 seconds, exceeding the time of the previous record by 3 minutes and 37 seconds. The flight was witnessed by nearly a thousand people.

Chicago, Sept. 11.—The public library barred Patterson's "Little Brother of Noh," as unfit for young people to read.

This morning operations were resumed by the two policemen, and L. G. Willis, 10 years old, Marshall Park, 11 years old, and McKelley Willis, 8 years old, all negroes, were arrested on Adams street, and admitted they had taken iron from the yards. It is said that one of the boys admitted that Marse had induced him to take the junk and sell it to him. Other boys are in the gang, and the policemen are on the search. All of the boys are under sixteen years old, and must appear in the county court.

Yesterday over $25 worth of material was recovered and this morning $7.32 worth of iron and material was found. Some of the couplings and pins were new, and it is not known how the boys managed to secure them.

REPUBLICAN CONVENTION SEPTEMBER 29

Delegates Will Meet at City Hall to Select City Ticket.

General Demand For First Class Officials.

COUNTY POLL PLEASING.

A precinct delegate convention is called by the Republican committee for the night of Tuesday, September 29, to meet at the city hall at 8 o'clock, to nominate candidates for city treasurer, city jailer, five aldermen, one councilman in each ward, one school trustee in each of the first four wards and two each in the fifth and sixth wards. Preceding that, precinct conventions will be held in each precinct at 2 o'clock the afternoon of September 29, to select one delegate for each 100 votes cast for the Republican ticket last fall, or fraction over fifty.

According to the first poll of McCracken county turned in at the meeting of the Republican county committee last night, with six precincts missing, the situation remains unchanged from last year when the county gave a Democratic majority of 88, excepting that the national Republican ticket will make a better showing in the city even than Wilson did, and there is a general demand from Democrats and Republicans alike for a representative municipal ticket.

It was the consensus of opinion last night that the best candidates possible should be selected in the wards for candidates for the general council and school board, and for the other offices candidates of the same character as those elected last fall should be presented to the voters.

This was especially urged because reports from every ward were to the effect that citizens are dissatisfied with the make-up in many respects of the local Democratic ticket, and the method employed in selecting it. A campaign committee was selected, and, encouraged by the success last fall, plans were laid for getting down to work about the organization. The campaign committee will not wait for the convention before starting in with the organization.

The city committee, after canvassing the situation, decided to call a precinct delegate convention to meet at the city hall Tuesday, September 29, at 8 o'clock, p. m., to choose candidates for city offices. The voters in the precincts will meet at 2 o'clock that afternoon in mass conventions to be called to order by the precinct chairman, if he is present, otherwise by any Republican. These precinct conventions shall choose one delegate for each 100 Republican votes or fraction over 50 cast at the last election.

This will give the candidates plenty of time in which to make their canvass, and give the voters time to choose their favorites.

Cincinnati Paper is Making Fight Against American Equity Society.

The Cincinnati Commercial Tribune continues its alleged "exposures" of the Equity Trust, and asserts that none of its charges have been officially denied, much less refuted. It says the only denial made by President Lebus is that he has sold tobacco outside of the pool. Referring to Mr. Glover Kyle's statement published in the Democrat two weeks ago, the Commercial Tribune says:

"The Commercial Tribune explained in its last Sunday's issue that the 10 per cent, retained by the executive board from the 1906 and 1907 crops at the prices fixed would produce $3,000,000. The Commercial Tribune has yet to see these figures disputed or denied."

"Last week A. G. Kyle, chairman of the Mercer county board of control came to the front with a statement that this sum will be distributed to the growers, less the necessary expenses, which cannot exceed 2 per cent and which he is confident will be very much less. If this be true, why, then, does the executive board take 10 per cent, from the growers? If it can not exceed 2 per cent, why retain more than that amount? Why do they want to take $2,000,000 over this sum for the only purpose, according to Mr. Kyle, of returning it to the grower, when final settlement is made?"

"Why did the state board, of which Mr. Kyle is a member, fix the charge of $1.25 per one hundred pounds for handling tobacco when it is known by all growers that the price, prior to the formation of the Equity Trust, was but fifty cents per one hundred pounds? Of the 142,000,000 pounds of the 1906 and 1907 crops, the difference between fifty cents and $1.25, namely, seventy-five cents per one hundred pounds, amounts to $1,065,000. This one item of handling gives a take off of $1,065,000 taken from the growers."

"The Commercial Tribune has stated that not only are the members of the county boards of control purchasing the tobacco, but are also purchasing the certificates. The Commercial Tribune knows of a case where a grower stated publicly that he had his tobacco graded and priced by the Equity Trust, part at 13 cents per pound, and part at 11 1/2 cents per pound, and sold his warehouse certificates on this tobacco for ten cents to an official of the executive board. Why is it necessary for buyers to make presents to the official grader of the Equity Trust? provided the graders are working in the interest of the growers?"

"In one case that the Commercial Tribune knows of a grader was given a horse, another was presented with a buggy, a third grader a suit of clothes. Another case where a buyer had purchased three hogheads of 'G. 1,' two hogheads of 'H. 2,' four hogheads of 'W. 2.' The type sample of the 'G. 1' indicated a little green, the sample 'H. 2' showed but very little hunchure and 'W. 2' but very little worm-out. When the hogheads were stripped the samples pulled looked better than the original type. The buyer was told that he could not have the tobacco—it was worth more money. The buyer was, in fact, told the tobacco was worth at least two cents per pound more, or twenty dollars per hoghead, and if he (the buyer) would split the difference with him (the grader) and give him $10 per hoghead he would use them. It was either that he or they could have the tobacco. The buyer finally paid $10 per hoghead to the Equity grader. Was this in the interest of the grower? Did the grower of these nine hogheads of tobacco get the $90? The Commercial Tribune is prepared to prove that this money went into the pocket of the Equity grader."

The Commercial Tribune promises to make further exposures, with the names and facts given. The threatened damage suit against the newspaper has not been filed as yet. —Herald Democrat, Sept. 10.

YOUNG men who are particular about their clothes will be more interested than ever in the fall styles we are now displaying.

In keeping with our usual custom, they're a bit different from what others show and there's "some class" to every model.

Our growing popularity with the young men is due to the fact that we show the new styles a month, and sometimes a whole season, ahead of the other houses.

The "vest-two" suit will be a great favorite and a popular fall style for young men—it's a Rosenwald & Weil production. They make smart clothes for young men. See it in the window.

HORSES AT A SACRIFICE.

Noted Hermit Among Millionaire Thomas' Stays.

Long Beach, N. J., Sept. 10.—At a sheriff's sale for the benefit of creditors of E. H. Thomas, the former racing man, his stable of thoroughbred horses at Hopedale, N. J., estimated to be worth $100,000, was sold beneath the hammer today for $18,075.

Many of the finest of all bloods were among the lot and went for a fraction of their value. Hermit, a winner of a Suburban, brought only $900. H. M. Ziegler, his former owner, taking him at that price. Mr. Thomas is said to have paid $60,000 for him to L. V. Bell. Golden Garter was worth $1,000 to J. B. Haggin. Mr. Thomas paid $10,000 for him a few years ago.

Highest of prices paid was that which acquired Lady Amelia for John E. Madden for $4,000. A number of 2-year-olds with faultless pedigrees, some famous broodmares and promising colts went for next to nothing. Among horses purchased at fair valuation, according to the wise ones, was the jumper, Mr. McCann, who was bid up to $2,500, going to J. E. Whittier.

A bay filly, 2 years old, by Watercross, dam Colonial Girl, brought $600. Yaman, by Imp. Butte-Auliquity, was knocked down for $625. These last two, with some others, constituted the attempt made by Mrs. Linda Thomas to stay disintegration of the entire stable.

ANNOUNCEMENT.

County Court Clerk.

The Sun is authorized to announce Hiram Smedley a candidate for re-election to the office of Clerk of the McCracken County Court subject to the action of the Democratic party.

City Jailer.

The Sun is authorized to announce Wade Brown a candidate for re-election to the office of city jailer, subject to the action of the Republican party.

Daily Thought.

Courtesy sows reaping friendship; thoughtful kindness, love.

All the same, they would have been glad if Hughes had not been nominated for governor of New York.

Well, they can't blame the decision in the Hepburn act case on the administration. Judge George Gray handed down that one.

Raymond Patterson, the Chicago Tribune correspondent, says that Bryan deposit guaranty system is in vogue in free silver China.

Nevertheless, we can remember about those Standard Oil tanks for two weeks longer; and will not let the councilmen forget.

The Standard Oil company now, instead of complying with the law, and establishing its tanks outside the city, has cut off the local supply of gasoline in order to discommodate gasoline boat owners and automobile owners and force them into taking sides with the oil company against property owners who are protesting against the presence of tanks in the city.

Bryan scored one on Cannon by declaring that he has made only $150,000 at it, while he averred that Cannon has made $1,000,000. But then, Cannon has been in politics longer than Bryan has, and Bryan may have overestimated the Danville sage's thrift. It is always easier to say "million" than to make it.

The News-Democrat, which declared that Patrolman John Bryant was appointed in January after Mayor Smith entered office, after being corrected by The Sun, says "Bryant was appointed to the force December 29 at the request of the Republican end of the administration." Now, if it will kindly inform us who constituted the Republican end of the city administration last December, we shall learn something.

THE FALL RAIN.

Merchants who are asked to close their business houses, one-half day during the fall race meet, may begin their consideration of the proposition with the fact that the promoters are not out for money; that they are giving up their time and their money to a project that can be made an annual attraction to out of town buyers; and that they really are improving the horse market of western Kentucky.

The merchants are not contributing generally to the financial support of the last meet are attracting more are taking on themselves the risk of possible bad weather. Last year Paducah had the best races ever given in western Kentucky and this year the purses, the track and reputation of the last meet are attracting more and better horses, insuring even better sport. The Sun declares with conviction that the fall race meet is entitled to the support of the citizens. Whether the merchants deem it advisable, or think they can afford to, or believe it will benefit the city to close for one-half day to give a holiday tone to the meet and make it appear to the horsemen and visitors that Paducah is wide awake and happy and interested in the sport and their enjoyment, they will have to decide for themselves.

THE LOCAL POLITICAL SITUATION.

Political expediency is always akin to good citizenship, if the politicians only realized it. The politician best serves himself, who best serves the public; and there is this point to be considered by the Republicans in choosing their city candidates at the delegate convention at the city hall September 29 at 8 o'clock.

In this case the relationship between political expediency and good citizenship is so apparent, that Democrats are just as loud in urging the party leaders to do their duty, as are the Republicans, and the memory of the last municipal campaign, in which the ticket, designated Republican on the ballot, won a victory, is still too fresh in the minds of all to be overlooked. Partyism should be discontinued in municipal affairs; but we speak of Republicans particularly at this time, because the Democratic party has already acted, and it is too late to warn its leaders against the errors they have committed. Good citizens now must turn to the Republican party with their demands.

The local Democratic ticket is being advertised every day, and most voters by this time should have learned just who the men are that are running for the offices. We desire to only recall, in connection with the recent primary that the morning paper rebuked the party for dropping two members of the present general council from the ticket, and one of the committee in charge of the primary, was moved to publish a statement, exonerating himself from any connection with that result and deploring the same fact that the paper did.

The truth is that, while there are some good men on the ticket, it was picked out by the same faction that stood sponsor for the Democratic ticket last fall, and that is taking a hand in the Democratic county and circuit primaries. One of the fine lines of distinction drawn in the city primary was between what they designate as "Smith Democrats" and "regular Democrats," meaning that the men, who are suspected of having scratched their ticket last fall in the interest of good citizenship, are to be punished by the "Yellow Dog" variety of partisan.

It is no wonder that Democrats, who put their citizenship above their partisanship, are becoming disgusted with the manner in which local party affairs are being managed. It is a crime in the eyes of the sportsman when a man scratches his ticket, and he is backed up here by the party organ, which denounces those, who scratched their tickets as traitors. A few more lessons, such as they were given last fall, may tend to modify their idea of what constitutes party loyalty; but it is evident that they haven't yet grasped the true theory of popular government.

HUMOR AND WIT.

You can generally tell a hard drinker by his mug.

Adversity is the grindstone that sharpens a man's wit.

The near-gentle who wears long hair is seldom long-headed.

Even the promoter isn't always truthful to his trust.

Nowadays it's a poor rule that won't work five or six ways.

He that neither works nor pushes. Won't find food among the bushes.—Irish.

"Will this silk wash?"
"It ought to. It's Chinese silk."—Cleveland Leader.

Judge Fenner—"I heard that your brother was cast upon strange waters."

Col. Bluegrass—"Suh, all waters are strange to him."—Judge.

Rainfall.

The discussion of observations on rainfall made first by Sir John Murray and later by Buckner and Fritzsche (permits an estimation to be made of the mean rainfall on continents, which is found to be about thirty inches a year. The rainfall on the ocean is more difficult to measure but it has been estimated by Supan; and Fritzsche, taking account of all the known facts, estimates the mean annual rainfall for the entire surface of the earth at about thirty-six inches. Making use of this number, it is easy to calculate that the total rainfall amounts to 164 millions millions of metric tons a year, 1,272 thousand millions of tons a day, 53,000 millions of tons an hour, 882 millions tons a minute, or 15 millions tons a second.—Scientific American.

Of Maryland's twenty-three counties all but seven are upon navigable waters.

SULTAN'S TREASURE.

Investments in New York Real Estate by the Turkish Ruler.

Immediately on the outbreak of the revolution in Turkey which has taken the world by surprise—even the knowing world of diplomacy and the eagle-eyed modern press—it was persistently rumored that Sultan's chief adviser and abettor in wickedness, Izzet, had fled to America. What more natural than that he should, on the first alarm, have thought him of his son in Washington, till this week the Ambassador from Turkey?

But there is another and almost equally powerful reason for his turning his steps westward to America. "Where the treasure is there will the heart be, also," Izzet has been investing for years, like his avaricious master, the Sultan, in New York real estate and other good property in the United States. The Sultan's holdings in metropolitan corner lots are reckoned by certain well-informed business men among his subjects in this country in the millions. Of course, nothing of it all stands in his own name. His investing has been done through Greek bankers in New York and elsewhere, and as is well known, they are here, as throughout the financial centers of Europe, among the keenest and most sagacious investors in the money world.—Boston Transcript.

CAPTAIN CLAIBORNE ON DUTY.

Some mystification Captain Richard Claiborne packed a suit case in his quarters at Fort Myer. Being a soldier, he obeyed orders; but, being human, he was also possessed of a degree of curiosity. He did not know just the series of incidents and conferences that preceded his summons to Washington, but they may be summarized thus:

Herron von Marhof was a cautious man. When the young gentlemen of his legion spoke to him in avowed whispers of a cigarette case bearing an extraordinary device that had been seen in Washington he laughed them away; then, possessing a curious and thorough mind, he read up the press clippings relating to the false Baron von Kiesel and studied the heraldic emblems of the Schomburgs. As he pondered he regretted the death of his eminent brother-in-law, Count Ferdinand von Strödel, who was not a man to stumble over so negligible a trifle as a cigarette case. But von Marhof himself was not without resources. He told the gentlemen of his suit that he had satisfied himself that there was nothing in the Amritage mystery; that he called Vienna discreetly for a few days and finally consulted Hilton Talbot, the embassy's counsel, at the Claiborne home at Storm Springs.

They had both gone hurriedly to Washington, where they held a long conference with the secretary of state. Then the state department called the war department by telephone, and quickly down the line to the commanding officer at Fort Myer went a special assignment for Captain Claiborne to report to the secretary of state. A great deal of perfectly sound red tape was reduced to ultimate particles in these manipulations; it was also of a private and wholly confidential character. Therefore he returned to his cottage at Storm Springs, and the Washington papers stated that he was ill and had gone back to Virginia to take the waters.

The Claiborne home was the pleasant place in Storm valley and the library a comfortable place for a conference. Dick Claiborne caught the gravity of the older men as they unfolded to him the task for which they had asked his services. The Baron stated the case in these words:

"You know and have talked with this man Amritage; you saw the device on the cigarette case and asked an explanation, which he refused, and you know also Chauvenet, whom we suspect of complicity with the conspirators at home. Amritage is not the false Baron von Kiesel. We have established that from Senator Sanderson's knowledge of the man is of comparatively recent date, going back about five years to the time Amritage purchased his Montana ranch. Whoever Amritage may be, he says his bill; he conducts himself like a gentleman; he travels at will, and people who meet him say a good word for him."

"He is an agreeable man and remarkably well posted in European politics," said Judge Claiborne. "I talked with him a number of times on the King Edward and must say that I liked him."

"Chauvenet evidently knows him. There was undoubtedly something back of that little trick at my supper party at the Army and Navy," said Dick.

"It might be explained," began the

Of Interest To Women.

To such women as are not seriously out of health, but who have exacting duties to perform, either in the way of household cares or in social duties and functions, which seriously tax their strength, as well as to nursing mothers, Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription has proved a most valuable supporting tonic and invigorating nerve. By its timely use, much serious sickness and suffering may be avoided. The operating table and the surgeon's knife would it is believed, seldom have to be employed if this most valuable woman's remedy were resorted to in good time. The Favorite Prescription has proven a great boon to expectant mothers by preparing the system for the coming of baby, thereby rendering childbirth safe, easy, and almost painless.

Hear in mind, please that Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription is not a secret or patent medicine, against which the most intelligent people are quite naturally averse, because of the uncertainty as to their composition and harmless character, but is a medicine of known composition, a full list of all its ingredients being printed in plain English on every bottle wrapper. An examination of this list of ingredients will disclose the fact that it is non-alcoholic in its composition, chemically pure, triple-refined glycerine taking the place of the commonly used alcohol. In its make-up, in this connection it may not be out of place to state that the Favorite Prescription of Dr. Pierce is the only medicine put up for the cure of woman's peculiar weaknesses and ailments, and sold through druggists, all the ingredients of which have the unanimous endorsement of all the leading medical writers and teachers of all the several schools of practice, and that too as a remedy for the ailments for which the Favorite Prescription is recommended.

A little book of these endorsements will be sent to any address, postpaid, and absolutely free if you request same by postal card, or letter, of Dr. R. V. Pierce, Buffalo, N. Y.

baron; then he paused and looked from father to son. "Pardon me, but they both manifest some interest in Miss Claiborne."

"We met them abroad," said Dick. "and they both turned up again in Washington."

"One of them is here, or has been here in the valley—why not the other?" asked Judge Claiborne.

"But of course Shirley knows nothing of Amritage's whereabouts," Dick protested.

"Certainly not," declared his father. "How did you make Amritage's acquaintance?" asked the ambassador. "Some one must have been responsible for introducing him, if you can remember."

Dick laughed.

"It was in the Monte Rosa at Geneva. Shirley and I had been chatting each other about the persistence with which Amritage seemed to follow us. He was taking dinner at the same hour, and he passed us going out. On Arthur Singleton—the ubiquitous—was talking to us, and he called Amritage with his customary zeal and introduced him to us in quite the usual American fashion. Later I asked Singleton who he was, and he knew nothing about him. Then Amritage turned up on the steamer, where he made himself most agreeable. Next, Senator Sanderson vouched for him as one of his Montana constituents. You know the rest of the story. I swallowed him whole. He called at our house on several occasions and came to the post, and I asked him to my supper for the Spanish attache."

"And now," Dick, we want you to find him and get him into a room with ourselves, where we can ask him some questions," declared Judge Claiborne. They discussed the matter in detail. It was agreed that Dick should remain at the Springs for a few days to watch Chauvenet; then if he got no clew to Amritage's whereabouts he was to go to Montana to see if anything could be learned there.

POLECATS TO BE JOY FOREVER

Mississippi Chicken Farmer Solves Problem of Winning Respect for Animal.

From time immemorial the polecat has been an outcast among humans. The world has respected him. It has never loved him. There are certain of his qualities and attributes which forbid a close acquaintance. But now, thanks to a remarkable scientific discovery, all this is to be changed. The polecat is to have not only his present place among the living beautiful creatures of the out-of-doors, but will bear a message of fragrance to the world as well. It is from a Mississippi country, weekly that we glean the glad tidings. A gentleman farmer of that state, who is the proprietor of a chicken farm, has also a polecat farm near by. Not long ago his chickens felt sick. He mixed coal oil in their feed, and was surprised to find that the next batch of eggs which his faithful hens produced smelled strongly of petroleum.

A bright idea dawned upon him. He had long hated the odor of his polecat farm. Now he mixes lavender, bergamot and orange flowers with the food which he gives the pretty little animals. The results are all that the most fastidious nature could wish; a delicate and delightful odor hangs about the polecat farm now—a scent that vies with the violet and puts the musk rose and the magnolia to shame. Thus is an animal of lovely appearance, but of terrible reputation, transformed into a creature fit to be the theme and inspiration of a whole school of lyrical poets.—Uncle Remus' Home Magazine.

Jeweler—Yes, that engagement ring is plated, but it is warranted for ten years. Purchaser.—Haven't you got anything cheaper, warranted for about ten weeks?—Cleveland Plain Dealer.

HERE are three of the gingery new models which we are showing in new fall shades. Note the graceful lines, the tone of refinement which stamps them "unusual."

And the quality is as unusual as the style. The names Kent, Youman, Roeloff and Stetson guarantee that. They are made from the purest selected furs, the dye is deep and rich, the trimmings are the best money can buy; in short, we should be proud to submit them to the most critical hat expert.

Something doing in the way of colors, too. Tasteful elephant grays, greens, sages, London fogs as well as the ever popular pearls and blacks. These you can't appreciate till you see them, though, so don't delay your visit. It's time to doff the rusty straws and get in touch with Fashion. Tomorrow would be a good day.

FOOD KEPT FRESH IN FERN LEAVES.

New Packing Preservative Is Found to Excel Straw and Other Stuffage.

Washington—Fern leaves excel all other agents for packing articles of food, according to Consul General Gauthier, at Frankfurt. He has forwarded an article to the state department, of which the following is a summary:

"People who have lived in England know that the English have used fern leaves successfully for many years. Valuable fruit, fresh butter, etc., are no longer kept in the English markets packed in grapevine leaves, but almost always in fresh fern leaves, which keep the articles excellent."

Herrings Packed in Fern.
"This is done where grapevine leaves are to be had in abundance. Every one is well in botany knows the preservative power of fern leaves with reference to vegetable and animal substances."

"On the job of Man herrings are packed in ferns and arrive on the market in as fresh a condition as when they were shipped. Potatoes packed in ferns keep many months longer than others packed only in straw.

Potatoes Put in Straw.

"Experiments made with both straw and fern leaves in the same cellar showed surprising results in favor of ferns. When the potatoes packed in ferns and arrive on the job of selling in the spring, these fern leaves were as fresh as if they had just been dug. Fresh meat is also well preserved by fern leaves."

"It would seem as if the preservative qualities of fern leaves are due to their high percentage of acid. No larvae, maggots, etc., approach ferns, as the strong odor keeps them away."

A Hard Part.

"My hardest part on my unfortunate summer tour," said the sailor, "was in a sea drummer. The Tar and the Clunker. I played third mate."

"The worst scene was certainly stomachs. Me and the crew swam the whole act through. The sea was a him with what the supers shook in the wings, and again on it, we swam overboard. Every time our valuable hit the water you could hear it all over the house."

"That fierce whummin' in the wild seas was terrible hard work. Now and then your backbone would come down on the ocean and get all the skin rasped off a wave would slide down your front and rip every button off your suit. The shoship keeled over on a man one night, and before he could lit her off himself his ankle bone was busted."

"A man in two wings made thunder and lightning with one hand and ate a cheese sandwich with the other. The brave ship waked to and fro, and it seemed that every minute would be her last. The dust from off the waves was stinging. If you gilded 'em fast over the sea's surface you got splinters in you. Still we swam on."

"Sometimes, though, when we'd swim behind the ship, stand up on the water, stretch ourselves and eat. Then back we'd swim bravely again."

"When that terrible act was at last over, we'd go down stairs, remove the dust and splinters that we had contracted from our long swim, pack the ship to a trunk, fold up the ocean, and go back to the boardin' house for supper."

"It's too bad," said the Jailer, "that the defendant should have chosen you for counsel. You know nothing about law."

"Well, Your Honor," replied the young lawyer, "I don't need to in this court."—Philadelphia Press.

HOT-WEATHER CONSTIPATION

People should be very careful at this time of the year not to become constipated, and if they do become constipated to attend to it promptly. Many people have a special tendency to constipation in hot weather, owing to the sudden change in food and to the fact that the natural moisture of the body that in winter remains within and helps to digest the food, leaves the system in the summer in the form of perspiration. And as the heat taints the food and the water, a constipated person is especially liable to a fever disease. It is, therefore, very important, in both young and old that the constipation should be immediately relieved. The best way to do this is not, as some suppose, by eating themselves sick with fruit and making the matter worse, nor by taking salts and laxative waters, which, as all who have tried them know, give but temporary relief; but, on the contrary, you should use a food-and-fiber remedy like Dr. Caldwell's Syrup Pepsin, which acts quickly but mildly and which relieves permanently so that a steady and lasting cure results. A bottle can be bought of any druggist, in sizes of 50 cents and $1.00, and this small sum will save you and your family a world of trouble. It is the best remedy you can take for any summer digestive trouble. You are guaranteed that it will do what is claimed. It will cure the constipation, clear the head, restore your appetite and sleep and make you feel like your old self again. Those who have not yet tried Dr. Caldwell's Syrup Pepsin, and would like to make a test of it, can do so free of charge by sending their address for a sample bottle to PEPSIN SYRUP CO., Monticello, Ill.

A Sea Story.

"Of all my sea experiences," said the captain, "this was the strangest."

The ladies at the handsome captain's table said hush to one another, then turned to the ruddy mariner with listening smiles.

"We were carrying," he said, "a lot of troop horses. A dreadful storm overtook us, and for two days we wallowed in the trough of a heavy sea. Finally it was decided that to lighten the ship, the horses must go overboard."

"They went overboard in the morning. As soon as they saw that they were abandoned they turned and began to swim bravely after us. Bravely, desperately, they swam. They followed us for miles and miles. I can still see them, a long line, their necks arched, pushing heroically through the heavy sea.

"They sank, poor brutes, one by one."

The captain smiled sadly.

"And I still seem to have," he said, "all those deaths on my conscience."

TWO FOUNTAINS FOR EVERY WARD

Aldermen Will Provide For Thirsty Travelers.

Street Committee Authorized to Improve Tenth Street for One Block.

THOSE STANDARD OIL TANKS.

At last night's aldermanic meeting the board gave the light and water committee power to act in placing two or more drinking fountains on the streets. Two fountains will be put in each ward. The water company will furnish water free of charge to the city for two of these fountains in each ward. The city is much in need of places for watering horses, and when the question arose in the meeting Alderman Sherrill made the motion and it was approved by the board that the light and water committee be given power to act in putting in the fountains. The watering troughs at Thirtieth and Tennessee streets that have been out of use for about eight months will be repaired and another trough probably will be put on the city scales lot. Where the other fountains will be placed is left to the committee. The city has two of these fountains in storage at the city hall, they will be the first ones to be placed.

Mr. F. M. McElathery, asked the city through Alderman Sherrill for a temporary right of way across the Illinois Central railroad tracks at the intersection of the new road that is to be built from Cedar street to the Mayfield road. Mr. McElathery gave the strip of land to the city for this new road and wants to lay his land, facing on the new road, in town lots, but first would like to have the right of way across the tracks. The Illinois Central Railroad company is figuring on placing an overhead crossing at that intersection at an expense of about $7,000. Alderman Stewart made the motion to refer the question to the railroad, telephone and telegraph committee and to get the temporary right of way for Mr. McElathery as quickly as possible. The motion was carried.

Mr. A. Elliott, who recently bought a piece of ground at Ninth and Ohio streets from Capt. Young Taylor, for which a deed was not made on 11th yesterday, said that his property is assessed too much for the improvement made on the street abutting his property. Mr. Elliott states that the property is valued at $240, as that is what he paid for it, but according to the city assessment the value would be $292.40. Mr. Elliott stated that he was willing to pay on $125, one-half its valuation, but not on $116.20. By motion of Alderman Miller the request of Mr. Elliott was concurred in.

William Wheeler, manager of the post house, asked the aldermen by letter, to have a phone put in at the post house. Mr. Wheeler said he has one sick man at the post house and without a phone it is inconvenient for him to keep the people posted as to how things are getting along at the post house. The letter was put in the hands of the railroad, telephone and telegraph committee for further action.

Sewer Inspector A. Franke notified the board of a number of bad places in the sewers and that a new sewer is needed on Jefferson street between Eighteenth street and Fountain avenue. These questions were referred to the board.

MOTHER AND CHILD.

Both Fully Nourished on Grape-Nuts.

The value of this famous food is shown in many ways. In addition to what might be expected from its chemical analysis.

Grape-Nuts food is made of whole wheat and barley, is thoroughly baked for many hours and contains all the wholesome ingredients in these cereals.

It contains also the phosphate of potash grown in the grains, which nature uses to build up brain and nerve cells.

Young children require proportionately more of this element because the brain and nervous system of the child grows so rapidly.

A Va. mother found the value of Grape-Nuts in not only building up her own strength but in nourishing her baby at the same time. She writes:

"After my baby came I did not recover health and strength, and the doctor said I could not nurse the baby, as I did not have nourishment for her, besides I was too weak."

"He said I might try a change of diet and see what that would do, and recommended Grape-Nuts food. I bought a pkg. and used it regularly. A marked change came over both baby and I."

"My baby is now four months old, is in fine condition, I am nursing her and doing all my work and never feel 'better in my life.' "There's a Reason."

to the board of public works. Mr. Franke also informed the board that in sewer district No. 2, sewer gas arises from most all the catch basins and is a nuisance. He said that in a long hot dry spell there is not sufficient water to put the sewer in working order. This Mr. Franke said could be remedied by running a small stream of water in the catch basins, once or twice a week. On motion of Alderman Stewart Mr. Franke was instructed to flush these basins with water as often as needed and abate the nuisance.

Bond Ordinance Killed.

The two ordinances repealing ordinances providing for the voting on of $250,000 and $150,000 in bonds to be used for street and sidewalk improvements were given first and second passage. An ordinance, providing for the construction of granite sidewalks and gutters with granite curbing, on both sides of Clark street between Tenth and Gould streets, was given first and second passage.

Other Matters.

Mr. J. H. Griffith reported that he was over assessed for property on Broadway. The question was referred to the board of supervisors.

City Assessor J. W. Orr reported that he had appointed Mr. H. M. Enders as his assistant. Mr. Orr's appointment was ratified. The finance committee was authorized to pay Mr. Enders $100 for his services.

Mr. W. H. Moore was granted a deed for lot 11, block 12, in Oak Grove cemetery.

Fire Chief J. J. Wood reported the buildings located at the rear of 111 South Second street and at the corner of Fourth street and Kentucky avenue as being in a dangerous condition. The mayor was authorized to serve notice on the property owners of these buildings, to either tear them down or repair them.

The report of the finance committee, Chief of Police James Collins and of the milk and meat inspector were received and filed.

On motion of Alderman Miller the question of paving Tenth street between Broadway and Kentucky avenue was referred to the street committee with power to act.

All the aldermen were present at last night's meeting. They were Aldermen Hanson, Baker, Wells, Hank, Miller, Oehlbechler, Sherrill and Stewart.

FOR HUGHES

NEW YORK STATE LEADERS IN LINE FOR RENOMINATION.

Persons Admits That Primaries Show Voters Want Executive for Another Term.

New York, Sept. 11.—Republican state leaders, who a week ago said they did not believe Governor Hughes would be renominated, declared that in their opinion there is no doubt that the governor will be nominated at Saratoga to head the state ticket.

Herbert Parsons was the first of the leaders to swing into the Hughes line. He said a majority of the delegates from New York county would be for the governor in the convention. He added that he based his prediction on the showing made at the primaries on Tuesday.

Timothy L. Woodruff, state chairman and leader of the Brooklyn organization, followed Mr. Parsons with a statement which was interpreted in political circles as indicating that he would not oppose a renomination.

Some Discord Likely.

This apparent change of front on the part of the leaders does not mean that the Saratoga convention will be one of peace and harmony. "Far may be," as one leader expressed it.

The up-state delegates who are instructed for James W. Wadsworth will cast their votes for the youthful speaker of the legislature. The delegates from Onondaga, in which territory Francis Hendricks is the leader, will stand solidly behind Senator Horace White, it is said, and delegates from other scattering districts will oppose a renomination.

The opinion was expressed, however, that with a majority of New York county's delegates and a fair proportion of the Kings county delegation voting with the delegates already instructed or classed as Hughes men, the renomination of the governor will be assured in the first ballot.

Parsons Bows to Test.

"The result of the test vote," said Herbert Parsons after he had analyzed the primaries, "shows that a considerable majority of the enrolled Republicans prefer that Governor Hughes should be renominated. We took the test to put the question to them, and, if their desires were explicit, to act accordingly."

"The test shows that there is some bitter opposition. But in view of the controlling sentiment in favor of the governor's renomination, which the test has made clear, it is my opinion that a large majority of the delegates from New York county to the state convention will favor Governor Hughes' renomination."

Before he made the foregoing statement Mr. Parsons conferred with Timothy L. Woodruff, William L. Ward and other leaders of lesser importance in the party. It was agreed among those men that it would be possible, but not politically expedient, to shelve the governor and it was further agreed that statements should be made public which would set the organization right in the minds of the party's voters.

Taft's Wish is Heeded.

Prior to this meeting of leaders there had been a long conference at which Henry W. Taft, brother of the presidential nominee, took a prominent part. He expressed the most earnest desire of W. H. Taft to have Mr. Hughes renominated. William L. Ward already had decided to swing into the Hughes' line and had argued with Mr. Parsons and Mr. Woodruff to do the same thing.

It was some time later that Timothy L. Woodruff set forth his position in a public statement.

"The magnitude of the opposition thus far manifested to Governor Hughes," he said, "in New York, and particularly in Kings county, certainly justifies the position I have taken that we will have to await the gathering of the delegates at Saratoga to enlighten us as to the exact situation in all the assembly districts."

I have, of course, recognized the very large and earnest sentiment in his favor among many classes, and the very best classes of Republicans, but could not be blind to the opposition, which for the first time was made evident yesterday to the public."

A. R. Parker No Candidate.

Washington, Sept. 11.—Before leaving for New York Judge Alton B. Parker took cognizance of a report that he would be willing to make the race for governor of the state of New York at the approaching election, and said in so many words that he was not so inclined. He made especial reference to the headlines published over an interview he granted to the Washington correspondent of a New York paper.

Judge Parker said: "I am not willing to run for governor of New York. I did not feel that the situation and the question presented justified me in saying more than that it is my desire never again to hold public office. My friends, I felt, would understand that I said precisely what I meant, and no answer was intended to inform them and no one else."

Judge Parker will entertain Mr. Bryan at dinner next Sunday.

MAN IN THE RAIN.

Manner of Managing Fine Apparel As Compared With Woman's Way.

"You would think now, wouldn't you," she said, "that lordly man would defy the weather and no permit himself to be disturbed by such a little thing as rain? But my! I think men are more particular about their fine clothes than women are."

"Take a man who is out, for instance, in a light gray suit, and let a shower come up. Does the man in gray go blithely on and let the rain fall upon him as it will? Very much not, sir! He seeks the nearest shelter and there he waits for the rain entirely to cease before he ventures out; more careful of his garments, surely, than any woman would be of hers."

"That it is what a man does with his straw hat in the rain that interests me most. Why, I have seen a man take off his straw hat in a shower and carry it under his coat, so careful he is about it, and isn't a man going along the streets hatless, with his hat clutched in that way under his coat, a funny figure? Did you ever see a woman do that?"

"It's a common thing to see a man caught in a shower carrying his straw hat sort of casually down at his arm's length at his side, as if he was just sauntering that way, but really to protect his hat as much as he can. And do not we even see men in the rain holding newspapers over their hats? Who ever saw a woman do that?"

"Women seem, somehow to be able to go through a shower without making conspicuous figures of themselves. They are always serene, never troubled, and somehow they never seem to get as wet in the rain as men do."—New York Sun

BRYAN AS PROPHET FAILS TO QUALIFY

Disasters He Foretold Never Come to Pass.

Fallacy of Gold Standard Does Not Shiny, Nor Does It Write Future in Blood.

OPPOSITE IS ALWAYS TRUE.

As a prophet William Jennings Bryan has never been a success. The calamities which he has foretold would have brought unlimited disaster to the country if they had ever been realized. But they never came to pass. The harrowing pictures which he painted were merely figments of his imagination, based on absolutely no foundation whatever.

It is well to have Americans remember that prophecies uttered by the orator of the Platte must be discounted fully 100 per cent, for all signs indicate that he feels the fates once more and is about to begin prophesying again. A male Cassandra, Mr. Bryan might by this time have learned that the forecast of evil will never be believed by those who have found that in the past his predictions have been but empty air.

"Driving Country to Ruin."

For instance, when Mr. Bryan was a member of the house of representatives in 1892 he was absolutely certain that protection was driving the country headlong to rack and ruin, and in his speech delivered March 16 of that year he drew the following agonizing picture:

"Protection has been our cannibal tree, and as one after another of our farmers has been driven by the force of circumstances upon that tree and has been crushed within its folds his companions have stood around and shouted, 'Great is protection!'"

"In every state, so far as these statistics have been collected, the proportion of home owning farmers is decreasing and that of tenant farmers increasing. This means but one thing. It means a land of landlords and tenants, and backed by the history of every nation that has gone down, I say to you that no people can continue a free people under a free government when the great majority of its citizens are tenants of a small minority. Your system (protection) has driven the farm owner from his land and substituted the farm tenant."

How far this picture portrays the America of today or the America of any year since he made that speech any American can answer. Even in Mr. Bryan's own state he can find an answer right at his doors, for the farm lands of Nebraska have doubled in value.

"Murderous Gold Standard."
But during the four years succeeding that speech Mr. Bryan's agitation grew no less nor did the demon which he had raised in his own imagination with diminished heat. For in 1906 he again saw destruction threatening the country. He had a remedy for it, a panacea, a fad which he held up for worship—free silver. Here are some of the things Mr. Bryan said would happen if the gold standard were continued:

"I reply that if protection has slain its thousands the gold standard has slain its tens of thousands."—From Speech at Democratic National Convention July, 1906.

"Do not let the Republicans beguile you about the future. The future is written in blood crushed out of you by gold."—From Speech at Erie, Pa., August, 1906.

"Ah, my friends, there is another reason why people have gone into the cities and left the farms. It is because your legislation has been causing the foreclosure of mortgages upon the farms. Mark my words! If the gold standard goes on and people continue to complain the gold standard advocates instead of trying to improve the condition of the people will be recommending that you close your schools so that the people will not realize how much they are suffering."—From Speech at Monmouth, Ill., October, 1906.

But whom has the gold standard slain? What future did it write in blood? What district schools did it close? Again the condition of the country makes a calm reply confuting the impassioned orator.

Canvassing again in 1900 Mr. Bryan decided that imperialism was an other danger to the country. If it were continued the Fourth of July would be forgotten by all Americans and the "spirit of '76" would become a thing of the past. Speaking at Lincoln Mr. Bryan said:

See Death of Patriotism.
"The fight this year will be to carry out the sentiment of that song we have so often repeated, 'My Country, 'Tis of Thee.' If we lose, our children and our children's children will not succeed to the spirit of that song, and celebrations of the Fourth of July will pass away, for the spirit of the empire will be upon us."

Is there any spot in these United States where the spirit of 1776 is dead and forgotten and the Fourth of July a meaningless date on the calendar? One of the most ridiculous of these prophecies was contained in a speech Mr. Bryan made in support of Judge Parker during the campaign of 1904, when he attacked President Roosevelt. "This prophecy had it that military despotism was sure to follow the decrease in the size of the standing army. In this speech Mr. Bryan also emphasized the fact that he was then and always would be a firm believer in the principle of free silver. He summed up his position on this question in the following sentence:

"I believe today in the principles set forth at Chicago and Kansas City (19 to 1) and shall continue to fight for those principles."

FOREST EXPERT

IS ON HIS WAY TOWARD WESTERN KENTUCKY.

Will Start in Muhlenberg and Survey Coal Field Situation First.

London, Sept. 11.—J. S. Holmes, who is in charge of the study of the forest conditions of Kentucky now being made by the United States forest service in co-operation with the state board of agriculture, forestry and immigration, passed through Louisville yesterday on his way to Muhlenberg county, where he expects to continue the work begun last year in the mountains. This study has been continued so far to the counties east of the Bluegrass, the greater number of which have now been gone over. Mr. Holmes is now starting work in the western part of the state and with the aid of his assistants hopes to cover most of the counties included in the western coal field before the close of the present field season, at the end of October.

The steadily increasing demand for mining timber and the rapidly diminishing supply of material suitable for this purpose presents a very definite forestry problem, the solution of which will be one of the special objects of the study in these counties. Muhlenberg, Hopkins and Christian will be the counties first taken up and from these the work will extend west to the Tennessee and north to the Ohio rivers.

As in the mountain counties, the people will be asked to co-operate by furnishing information on the present stand of timber in the various counties, and on the past year's output. The value of a study such as this is increased and its usefulness broadened in proportion to the interest taken in it by the people of the region, for whom it is primarily designed. It is hoped, therefore, that the people in this part of the state will do all they can to assist the foresters in this study which the state has inaugurated for their benefit.

JOE CANNON OPENS

a law in 1896 to take from the courts the power to grant injunctions in labor disputes and their power to punish for contempt. He said that while the bill was passed by a Democratic senate on June 10, 1896, the day the fifty-fourth congress adjourned, and although the Democrats endorsed such legislation in their platform of 1896, both actions were accepted by the people as an attack on the judiciary and aided materially in the overwhelming defeat of Mr. Bryan. The Republican house stood against such legislation in 1896 and the people sustained its action. Mr. Cannon pointed out that in 1896 the Democrats might have passed such an injunction law; that they controlled both houses and had a Democratic president; that Mr. Bryan was a member of that congress, but he was silent regarding injunctions by a federal court, although a court in Louisiana had at that time decided that labor organizations were amenable to the Sherman anti-trust law.

able to the Sherman anti-trust law. "Mr. Gompers complains," said Speaker Cannon, "that the supreme court of the United States has placed a new interpretation on the Sherman anti-trust law in the decision of the Danbury hat makers' case. Mr. Gompers is mistaken. Like other special pleaders, he puts into that decision things that were not written, or decided, or considered. The hat makers case was a complaint against an interstate boycott. The American Federation of Labor had ordered a boycott throughout the United States against the Danbury hat manufacturers because of a refusal to unionize their shops. The complaint was against the boycott as a restraint of interstate commerce and in defiance of the Sherman law. The case was decided on that ground and the opinion of the supreme court sustained the decision of the lower court on that ground. Mr. Gompers says that this decision for the first time brings the labor unions under the restriction of the Sherman law. It is mistaken. The United States courts, district and circuit, have in numerous cases held that the law applied to labor organizations. In the opinion of the supreme court, Chief Justice Fuller, a Democrat, cited several of these decisions.

Mr. Cannon referred again to the case in which the United States circuit court of Louisiana in March, 1895, issued an injunction against striking members of the Workmen's Amalgamated Council of Louisiana, and held that the Sherman law applied to combinations of workers as well as to combinations of capital.

"That decision," said Speaker Cannon, "was rendered fifteen years ago, before the Pullman strike in Chicago and it has been the interpretation of the law ever since. Mr. Bryan was in congress for two years after that decision and although the Democrats controlled the government we fail to find anything in the records to show that he or his party tried to amend the Sherman law or make any protest against the action of the court. The decision of the Danbury hat makers case was that the boycott was in restraint of trade and that the American Federation of Labor was not exempt from the law made for all. It is an unwarranted assumption that this decision in any way affects agreements between employers and employees or that it even touches the right of employees to quit work or strike."

Gompers Wants Boycott. Speaker Cannon then told of the appearance of Mr. Gompers before the house committee on judiciary while it was considering the Hepburn bill, to ask for an amendment that would authorize the boycott. He said Mr. Gompers was asked whether an amendment suggested by him was meant to relieve labor unions from the operation of the Sherman law as continued in the hat makers case. Upon Mr. Gompers' replying "yes," the chairman had asked him, "Do you, as a representative of organized labor favor the boycott, both as an interstate and a local proposition?" Mr. Cannon said that Mr. Gompers replied, "I do, sir."

"It will be seen," said Mr. Cannon, "that Mr. Gompers' complaint was directed as to the decision of the court on the boycott, not as to what it might lead to in interference with agreements between employer and employees, or as to the right of employees to strike. His contention is for the right to boycott, to use influence he has with a great organization, which he says has a membership of more than two million men, to boycott the product of any man or any firm for any cause whatever, and to use the publication under his control to injure any man's business for any cause or whim that pleased him. That would be illegal in any publication by any man and it is difficult to see how it can be made above the law or how Gompers can be exempted from the operation of the law that applies to all men."

Not Against Organization. "The federal courts have not laid any bar in legal decisions against agreements between employers and employees, or against peaceable strikes."
